FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BE: LAB AT SSC LIBRARY OFFER SENIOR TECHNOLOGY SERIES

The Senior Personal Technology Series will begin at the library Sept. 5. and run through Sept. 26. Classes are held from 11 a.m. to noon and aim to help seniors learn the basics of using popular technology. Each of four classes will have a separate theme. Participants can sign up for the whole series or just the workshops they are interested in by calling (607) 936-3713 ext. 502 or emailing reimerl@stls.org.

Classes are as follows:

Sept. 5 | Learn about the two most prevalent operating systems: Windows and Macs. This class will help you if you are interesting in buying a computer or laptop but aren't sure what to buy.*

Sept. 12 | Would you like to talk on the phone and see who you are talking to at the same time? This class will teach you how to use Skype, a program that lets you video chat with family and friends.

Sept. 19 | Tablets and ereaders. This class will teach you how to use them and help you make an informed decision if you are interested in purchasing one. *

Sept. 26 | Learn how to go online and send and receive email.

* The library does not sell any of these devices. We make them available for patrons to try and answer questions about what the devices can do.
