JOIN MASTODON MATRIX PROJECT AT SSC LIBRARY

Join us Thursdays in February and March to work on a Citizen Science Research Project from the Paleontological Research Institute.

Called the Mastodon Matrix Project, participants ages ten and older will analyze soil samples from dig sites in New York State where mastodon fossils have been discovered.

Research days are Feb. 6, 13, 20, 27 and March 6, 13, 20 and 27 from 3:30-5 p.m. All meetings are held at the Southeast Steuben County Library.

This is a great opportunity to learn the scientific process as it relates to paleontological research.

Sign up is not required for this program. For questions, call (607)936-3713 ext. 503.
