LIBRARY TO CLOSE FOR GRANT FUNDED CEILING REPLACEMENT NOV. 25-DEC. 3

The library will soon be getting a new ceiling to replace the current, water-damaged drop ceiling, thanks in part to a State of New York Construction Aid for Libraries grant. The roof of the building that houses the Southeast Steuben County Library as well as other not-for-profit organizations was replaced in fall 2011 through this grant. The ceiling replacement will be a continuation of that work.

"We're excited about the replacement of the ceiling because this will improve the space for our patrons. Unfortunately, we will have to close the library for a week due to the construction process," said Library Director Pauline Emery.

In order to minimize the impact of the construction on our patrons, the library will be closed Nov. 25-Dec. 2 and will reopen Dec. 3. During construction we will not have access to the collection.

Patrons will still be able to return checked out items by leaving them in the book drop, which will be collected daily, or by returning items to other libraries in the area. However, there will not be any due dates on materials owned by the Southeast Steuben County Library during this week.

Patrons who have borrowed electronic devices such as nooks or laptops directly prior to this closing should keep these items until the library reopens Dec. 3.
